

History

First the astronauts put on their spacesuits.

Next they went in the rocket.

Then they landed on the moon.

After that they collected moon rocks.

Finally they got back in the rocket.

In Year 2 we have begun to build our understanding of world history by exploring the moon landings and how they have impacted our lives today. Using their chronological skills from year 1 the children were able to create a timeline of the Apollo 11 mission which allowed them to investigate the mission.

The children then widened their understanding through investigation and enquiry until they produced a more complex timeline, which demonstrates the impact that Apollo 11 still has on society today.

In year 5 the children have begun to build an overview of Ancient Greek society studying aspects of their culture and artefacts which we have been able to learn from. It is important as young historians that the children understand the context of the period they are studying. Year 5 have created a deep understanding of this by getting hands on and creating a number of Greek style pots. To do this they had to explore a range of sources and artefacts to understand what influenced Greeks, what they found important and what technology they had. The children are excited to use this deeper understanding to eventually compare and contrast the lives of Ancient Greeks with that of the present day and the Ancient Egyptians who they studied last year.
